Dear Ms. Fulton,

Thank you for your recent letter. I am sending you some information about our services and hope that you find it helpful.

We have checked our collection, but could not find the item or call number you requested. We then checked our catalog but did not find the marriage records listed there either. When we searched the history for the call number you listed, we found that it had been changed a number of years ago. I am enclosing a copy of the title page and index to the item represented by that call number.

I am sorry that we could not find the item you are seeking.

Sincerely,

"ONLY A DAD"

By Edgar A. Guest

Only a "Dad" with a tired face,
  Coming home from the daily race,
Bringing little of gold or fame,
  To show how well he has "played the game,"
But glad in his heart that his own rejoice
  To see him come, and to hear his voice.

Only a "Dad" with a brood of four,
  One of ten million men or more,
Plodding along in the daily strife,
  Bearing the whips and scorns of life
With never a whimper of pain or hate,
  For the sake of those who at home await.

Only a "Dad" neither rich nor proud,
  Merely one of the surging crowd
Toiling, striving, from day to day,
  Facing whatever may come his way;
Silent, whenever the harsh condemn,
  And bearing it all for the love of them.

Only a "Dad" but he gave his all
  To smooth the way for his children small,
Doing, with courage stern and grim,
  The deeds that his father did for him.
This is the line that for him I pen,
  Only a "Dad," but the best of men.

Dear Barbara;

I am sending along all that I could find in the Giffin file and the few things I could find about the other items you wanted.

The Library has a burial index for all known cemeteries and I consulted that, also. The listing I am including was all that I could find. I hope there's something in this that will help.

Sincerely,

lumbia, across the river, which are thus described in the doctor's essay:

No. 6 of this group is a small mound, situated in section twenty-two, Columbia township, on an elevated ridge known as Gravelotte, on the estate of T. R. Biggs. It is situated in a corner of a large embankment. Its height is three feet, circumference one hundred and fifty feet.

No. 7 of this group is located in section twenty-nine, Columbia township, one-fourth of a mile west of Camden, just south of the Wooster turnpike. It is now only one-third its former size, it being partly removed in the construction of the Wooster turnpike. Its present dimensions are: Height nine feet, diameter seventy feet.

In the southeast corner of section twenty-nine, at the village of Camden, and three hundred feet east of the south line of Mr. Galloway's residence, is the corner of an embankment which extends east and south to the river. It extends three-fourths of a mile east, until it reaches the bank of the river, which is here about forty feet high, the other running south until it reaches the edge of the gravel ridge, and then runs east to the river. It incloses from eight hundred to one thousand acres of ground. This embankment, fifty years ago, was six feet high and twelve feet wide. It is now scarcely traceable; but can be seen in spring time and just after plowing, when the peculiar color of the soil discloses it.

At the northwest corner of section twenty-eight, half a mile south of the mound No. 7, between the two headwaters of a little stream setting into the Miami, is a cluster of seven small mounds.

4. Some miles from any one of these groups, upon the farm of M. C. Benham, on section thirty, near Pleasant ridge, is a fine, large mound, eight feet high, by two hundred in circumference at the base.

5. On the same turnpike, the Montgomery, which passes near the Benham mound, but a mile and a half to the southwest, on Norwood Heights, is the famous mound of observation, one of the most notable ancient works in the county. It is nine feet high and two hundred feet in base circumference; and its summit commands an extensive view of the surrounding country. From it signals could be flashed or otherwise communicated to similar points of observation in the Mill creek valley, and thence rapidly far up and down the valleys of the Great Miami and the Ohio. Many stone implements, as axes, fleshers, gorgets, chissels, flint arrow-heads and chippings, and also mica, have been found in the neighborhood and through the valley.

THE EARLY DAY.

For the following items of township history we are indebted to the interesting work entitled "Surburban Homes," prepared and published in 1874, by Professor Richard Nelson, now president of Nelson's Business college, Cincinnati:

Though the records of the township have been kept at Madison, we have found it difficult to obtain much information regarding the early settlement of either town or township. The first record of township officers was made April 4, 1803, when Samuel Sheppard was elected chairman, and James Murch, clerk, and James McKnight, N. S. Armstrong, John Seeman, and John Elliott, trustees. Two years afterward, the whole number of votes polled in the township was thirty-two.

During the early history of the township, it was customary to board the poor at the farm houses, the pauper being sold at auction to the lowest bidder. Some of these bids, we noticed, did not exceed one dollar per week. It was also the province of the constable to notify strangers that were supposed to be in indigent circumstances that the township would not be responsible for their support. The following we extracted from a record made in 1826:

"An order to John Jones, constable, for warning B—— R—— and family . . . . to depart the township; also, for warning five supervisors to attend to be sworn into office."

Among the annals may also be seen a book containing the records of the "ear-marks" for stock. These marks are represented in diagrams, which are accompanied with a key, and in 1791 numbered up to one hundred and seventy. The last record stands thus:

"Moses Osborn, having removed out of the township, his mark is transferred to Henry Lockwood; which mark is two slits in the right ear."

The oldest of these private marks for animals, recorded as No. 1 by Judge William Goforth, February 7, 1791, was "a penny on the left ear, and a half-penny the under side of the same." This is accompanied, as in other cases, by a diagram showing the form and position of these marks upon the ear.

A leaf from one of the old justice dockets, bearing dates of August 22, 26, and 30, 1816, shows for what petty sums suits were sometimes brought in those days. In the case of William Irwin against Singer Smith, judgment was rendered against the defendant for two dollars. In that of Moses Kitchell vs. Christopher Leman, judgment was given the plaintiff for "the amount that I found between them," as the magistrate puts it—which amount was seventy-seven and three-fourths cents! The "bale" and a witness in one of these cases was the well-known Isaac Giffin, who receives further notice under the head of Madisonville. He is but recently deceased, and is remembered, among other characteristics, for his inveterate habit of ruminating, or chewing his cud, the same as a cow.

I wonder if they mean dec'd around 1881, the pub. date of the hist, or 1874, the Nelson pub. date?

The following document is an interesting but rather painful reminder of its time, as showing for what trifling delinquencies an unlucky debtor could be lodged in prison. It is some satisfaction, in this particular case, that the endorsement upon this writ shows that the debt and costs were paid without recourse to the last resort of an infuriated or determined creditor.

THE STATE OF OHIO, } ss.
Hamilton County. }

To John Jones, Constable of Columbia Township, Greeting:

WHEREAS John Armstrong, treasurer, obtained judgment against John and Rachel Withem, before me, a justice of the peace of said township, for a debt of two dollars eighty-three and one-half cents, and ..... dollars ..... cents costs, on the first day of June last.—You are therefore commanded to levy the said debt and costs, and costs that may accrue, of the goods and chattels of the said John and Rachel Withem, by distress and sale thereof, returning the overplus, if any, to the said John and Rachel Withem, but for want of such property whereon to levy, then take the said John and Rachel Withem to the jail of the county aforesaid, there to be detained until the said debts and costs that may accrue, shall be paid, or ..... otherwise legally discharged: And of this writ make legal service and due return.

Given under my hand and seal, this twenty-second day of April, in the year eighteen hundred and seventeen.

ZACH. BRIGGS,
Justice of the Peace.

A justice in those days received four cents for swearing a witness, seven for issuing a subpœna, twelve and a half for a writ, and the same sum for rendering a judgment, except pro confesso, when the fee seems to have been but ten cents. Constables realized twenty to thirty cents costs in a simple case; but a witness was allowed the extravagant sum of fifty cents for a day's attendance.

The following is a partial transcript of the original pauper record of Columbia township, kindly made for this work by Louis W. Clason, esq., of Madisonville, to whom its readers are also indebted for many other favors. He has exhibited an interest and public spirit in the matthey were conceded to be productive, in political economy they were ranked as non-producers, and accordingly were doomed to suffer persecution. Then every white man was a Granger. Middlemen had not yet found their way out west; so war was immediately declared against the intruders, and every man, woman, and child arrayed themselves against these unarmed and inoffensive immigrants. War to the knife, bitter, relentless, exterminating war was waged, and speedily raged. From the township the war sentiment extended to the county; from the county to the State; until the legislature actually passed a law for the extinction of the races, black and brown, indiscriminately. Every atrocity was then practiced and encouraged; and scalping commanded a high premium.

In 1811, the payment of taxes in squirrel pelts was legalized. In 1811 was also the great earthquake, which rent the foundations of the first frame house built in Madison—one erected by Paddy McCollum, a man of note at the time. Whether the earthquake had anything to do with the act of legislature and subsequent slaughter, our informant did not say.

As might be expected, the schools of that day were not conducted with the highest degree of efficiency. Mr. Bramble's teacher was an Irishman named John Wallace, who was intoxicated half his time, and would play ball with the boys half the balance. In proof of that Mr. Bramble said he attended school five winters before he got out of his "Abs."

Mr. Bramble was both a farmer and a trader in his boyhood, and sold corn and potatoes at ten cents a bushel in Cincinnati. Then property was equally cheap. School section sixteen was under lease to farmers and others, and the lease of a tract of forty acres of it was sold in 1810 for a ploughshare, then for a barrel of whiskey, and afterwards to Mr. Bramble for sixty dollars.

One of the early incidents of the settlement was the killing of two of the citizens by the Indians—a brother of Captain Giffin; and a father and son named Paul were out in search for hogs when discovered by the Indians, who gave chase, overtook Giffin and shot him, and afterwards shot the elder Paul. Young Paul could have made his escape with little trouble, as the station was near; but, anxious to save his father, he stopped in shelter of the trees, and with his rifle kept the Indians at bay as long as his father's strength held out. The latter finding escape hopeless sent his son off, and resigned himself to his fate.

Another incident of a later date took place east of Madison, when the victim was an Indian. West of Madison was a station known as Nelson's, where were horses pasturing. A party of Indians on their way toward the hills rode off with some of these, one of which was hoppled. Nelson and others of the fort made pursuit, but failed in overtaking any except the one on the hoppled horse, whom Nelson shot when near the site of the present residence of Esquire Clason. There the Indian was buried, and the circumstance turned to account by naming the place Indian hill. Esquire Clason says that many years afterward the grave was discovered by accident, and the jawbone secured as a relic in his family. Judging from the relic, he says, the Indian must have been a giant in proportions.

One of the few mechanics of the place was Jeremiah Brand, a plowmaker, and the best in the county. Brand was an industrious, honest workman, and a good citizen; and, even for the times, primitive in his habits and his wardrobe. He never wore shoes, and so contrived his nether garment that a single button sufficed to maintain it in its proper position. That button was alike remarkable for its size, brilliancy, and conspicuity. In Brand's time a local law was enacted requiring every man attending meeting to bring his musket and ammunition, or pay a fine of one dollar. This was pretty hard on poor Brand, who was perfectly innocent of the use of firearms. What did he want with a musket, when he was as fleet-footed as an Indian? But he went to meeting, was duly fined in his dollar, and as duly absented himself therefrom until the author of the objectionable law remitted his fine. Brand died in 1856.

MADISONVILLE.

Madisonville, or rather Madison, as it was originally called, was laid out upon the north part of school section No. 16, in fractional range two, township four, as soon as the lands, under the old system of leases, were made available. A considerable settlement had already gathered upon and about the spot; and when, January 27, 1809, the legislature passed an act providing for the disposition of the school sections, the people of this locality lost little time in proceeding to act thereon. The record of the survey of the town is dated March 30, 1809. John Jones, esq., William Armstrong, and Felix Christman, were chosen trustees for the purpose of platting the village and disposing of the lots; and Moses Morrison was their clerk. Joseph Reeder, Joseph Clark, and Ezekiel Lamard, were appointed to fix the valuation of the ground. William Darling was surveyor; Jeremiah Brand and Joseph Ward, senior chain carriers; and Nathaniel Ross, senior marker.

The plat of Madisonville was not recorded until May 27, 1829. The village was incorporated under the old law, about ten years afterwards—March 16, 1839; and under the present State constitution, a certificate of incorporation was filed with the secretary of State, February 11, 1876.

The growth of the town was naturally slow, in its early day, under the circumstances of its inland position and the absence of means of rapid transit to the city; and it had but two hundred and eighty-five inhabitants, or a little more than one-tenth the population of the entire township in 1830. In 1841 it received notice in the State Gazette as containing four hundred inhabitants, with one hundred dwellings, five stores, one brick meeting-house, a two-story school-house, a brick seminary or academy, and a daily mail. Its largest growth has been received since the completion of the Marietta & Cincinnati railroad in 1866, which induced a considerable emigration from the city to a place possessing so many superior advantages for suburban residence. It is fifteen miles from the Madisonville station to the depot of this road in Cincinnati.

The first church organized here was of the Methodist Episcopal faith, and the Madison circuit was organized at least as long ago as 1820. In that year Elder Henry Baker and Rev. William H. Raper were appointed to it; in 1821 Elder A. Wiley and William P. Quinn; the next year, James Jones and James Murray; the next, J. Stewart and Nehemiah B. Griffith; and the next, Elder John F. Wright and Thomas Hewson. Those were days of rapid rotation in the Methodist ministry. A new church was built by the Madisonville society in 1857, forty by sixty feet, with four hundred sittings, and costing ten thousand dollars. It was long the only Protestant church building in town. A parsonage has since been added, worth about five thousand dollars.

The Catholic church is built upon the addition made to the town by its former pastor, the Rev. Father A. Walburg, who reserved a lot for it and a parochial school, and also bore the major part of the expense of its construction—about fourteen thousand dollars. It is known as St. Anthony's church, and the congregation is now ministered to by the Rev. H. Stoppelman.

Other and generally prosperous societies in Madisonville are the Literary and Musical association, the Young Folks' Benevolent society, for literary and social culture, and to provide for the poor; the Free and Accepted Masons, and the Odd Fellows, who are strong here, and own a property of an estimated value of fifteen to twenty thousand dollars. The most notable institution, how-

Item #28, pp97-100, told by a Mrs. GIFFIN

"ROBERT GIFFIN lived at Columbia (now Cincinnati, O.). Had gone out hunting turkeys. Was shot to the left hand side of the road below Dr. Duncan's place. The year before Wayne's Treaty in the fall. We landed the 8th of April 1794, and he was killed that fall. We landed 11 Dec. 1793.

"There are the bullet ?moulds which were found right on the spot in a few feet of which he fell. Found 43 or 44 years later by his nephew, and the ground had been ploughed over and over again.

"The Indians took his gun, shot pouch and scalp. But none of his clothing. (Mr.) Paul came along just then. I had to go and warn. It was after night before they got in. Paul had been out hunting his ?dog. He and his son, William Paul, a native of Scotland, though long in America, and his son John (sic). They heard the gun and their dog barked (Paul had a great big black dog) and the scalp yell. They said there were Indians and began to make to the station. The dog leaving barking (sic) at the Indians and coming back to his master, they knew that was the way to some whites that were there. The old man was a Scotchman, told John to run and save himself, he was getting exhausted, the Indians would have him. He went on. The Indians were behind a poplar. About breast high, it forked. He stumbled there yet. The dog went back over the Crawfish hills. And Paul and his son took the opposite direction, thinking they would follow the dog and they might escape over the Miami. But the Indians discovered them. They would have gone on that way as at first, if the dog hadn't barked. Two hound dogs they had. And they had started that way, and when they saw the dogs go on, they turned off and round to the right in the opposite direction. They shot old Mr. Paul right in the back and out above his navel and he pitched forward on his knees. John was about 30 years ahead, and ?treed, and shot at the Indian as he sunk the tomahawk in his father's head. The smoke continued so that he couldn't see, but he feels assured he must have struck him, for all the fear had left him, and he shot as calmly as he ever did in all his life. The party that went out, houwever, could see no sighns. It was a beautiful day in Indianx summer. The Indians had been defeated, the people were not afraid, and Mr. Paul would have laughed at one to have told him there was danger. He had just built him a strong house, with port holes, outside of the station. The station was picketed in. Had at one time as many as 10 or 12 families in it. Had eight houses. Just where Widow Langdon lives.

"GIFFIN lived down on the Miami, at Columbia, between Miami and Ohio.

"The Rev. Mr. Steel married John Paul's sister. William Paul was one of the first settlers."

Flinn statement

"ROBERT GIFFIN was killed alone. His father had brought down a large family from Pennsylvania. He (ROBERT) had gone out hunting and had killdd a turkey and raccoon. Old. Mr. Paul was killed a week or so after. This was an another branch of Duck Creek from Mrs. Ferris' just below Dr. Duncan's about 1/2 mis. below Madison. GIFFIN had been living at my father's before he was killed and was living with my mother at this time. Was on his return home at this time. Nelson's Station was about 100 yards in front of the mound where John Ferris lived. I think this station was established as early as 1791. After ROBERT GIFFIN's death, his father and brother's family moved to Nelson's Station....(p104) Old AMr. Paul and John Paul were out hunting hogs when the old man was killed.....(p105) Isaac Ferris wasx in Sycamore and belonged to Mt. Carmel Church, and two GIFFINs lived in Madison."

Some excerpts from the GIFFIN family history as collected by Cyril Guy Giffin

Dear Guy:

Father used to have an old memorandum book in which his grandfather kept accounts of farm rents and such matters in Londonderry, Ireland, in 1737. I have seen the book, but I don't know who has it now, but the writing was in English and the accounts in English currency. I would infer the writer was a Cromwellian or Orangeman from the north of England colonized by Oliver Cromwell or William of Orange. This is the earliest knowledge we have of the origin of the family.

May Grandfather WILLIAM GIFFIN was born in 1776 and came with four brothers to Cincinnati in 1794. One brother, ROBERT, was killed by Indians at the beginning of Wayne's war. The descendants of the rest are scattered over the states. Father was born in 1802, Dec. 26, 16 miles below Dayton on the banks of the Miami River near where Franklin is now. The family moved to Fosters Crossing on the little Miami River in Warren County, Ohio, soon after. The family consisted of WILLIAM (father), SAMUEL BIGGER GIFFIN, ROBERT GIFFIN & MATTHEW GIFFIN, & ELIZABETH & JULIA GIFFIN.

ELIZABETH married a man named WILLIAMSON. JULIA married a man named McKNIGHT in 1832. WILLIAM, S.&B. & E. came to Miami Co., Ohio, settling in the vicinity of Covington, Ohio. ROBERT went about the same date to Clinton County, Ind., and JULIA & MATTHEW to Central Illinois. The last I knew of MATTHEW he was in eastern Kansas, having lived in Southern Iowa and in the Ozark region of Missouri at different times. Of his descendants I know nothing. ROBERT had two sons--JIM & BILL. He settled about 1860 in Noddoway Co., Missouri, and two sons, SAM & TOM, in the Clinton County region in Indiana. S.B. GIFFIN had three sons. One grandson, CHARLES GIFFIN, you know of in Cincinnati. SAM GIFFIN lives near Sidney, Ohio. DR. GIFFIN in Columbus is a grandson, and GEORGE GIFFIN in Southern Calif. is another and is a bachelor. This is the sum of my family knowledge.

There are people of the same name in Belmont Co., Ohio, and in Central Kansas not related. Some in Huron County, Ohio, near Greensprings. BILL GIFFIN found a man with his name in Pomona, Calif., no relation.

When E. L. (EDWARD LINCOLN) GIFFIN went to Tennessee, he found numbers of men of the name in Blount County, southeast of Knoxville, who came from North Carolina originally, evidently the name is not uncommon.

They all come from North Ireland, or North England and Scotland, and are descended from some of Cromwell's followers as they are largely Presbyterian.

All well. Some winter today.

D. J. GIFFIN

The above letter gives us a pleasant peep into the recorded history of a family which evidently migrated from North Scotland to North Ireland to the new United States, as was the case with so many of our ancestors. There is in existence a history of the GIFFIN family compiled by some one many years ago (it was in the possession of LLOYD GIFFIN of Muncie, Ind., when we saw it, but LLOYD is gone, and what became of the book is not known). The book related that the family had its seat in County Ayr, in Scotland, there being an old castle by the name of GIFFIN Castle. The picture of the crumbling ruins was in the history. The name GIFFIN can be seen on some larger maps of Scotland today. It is not a large town, but seems to be on a railroad a few miles south of Glasgow in County Ayr (Robert Burns' country). We corresponded with a man in Edinburgh, Scotland, about the family, and he told us that there was still a SQUIRE GIFFIN presiding in the district know as GIFFIN, in County Ayr.

Memorandum of WILLIAM GIFFIN's Ancestors

My grandfather, WILLIAM GIFFIN, was born in the town of Farlagh, County of Londonderry, Ireland. His wife, HANNAH WILSON, was born in the town of Berberries in the same county. They were married about 1761 and emigrated to America about 1762. My grandmother had three brothers: ISAAC WILSON, who went into the service of the East India Company in early life, became very wealthy, lived in London, and is supposed to have died there about the beginning of this century (1800). His brothers were JAMES & MARK, both of whom came to America. JAMES was postmaster at Waynesburgh, Pa., about 1810 or 1811. This is the last I have ever heard of them.

My grandfather and grandmother had nine children, seven sons and two daughters. The sons were JAMES, ROBERT, JOHN, WILLIAM (my father), WILSON,  JACOB, AND ISAAC. The daughters were: ANN & ELIZABETH. ANN married JAMES McCLELLAND and raised a middling large family, lived and died on or near the site of Glendale. The site of this town was bought by Glenn from my cousin James McClelland, 80 acres for $8000 and was sold to the company who laid out the town for $16,000, so I have always understood.

My father was born near Lewistown, Mifflin Co., Pa., Dec. 2, 1776, and died in Miami County, Ohio, March 4, 1841, and laid in the old cemetery at Piqua, O.

Of my uncles, may father's brothers--JAMES, ROBERT & JACOB--I never saw. The others, with my two aunts, I have seen. My grandfather's family came to Columbia, Ohio, above Cincinnati, in 1794, if I am correctly informed. My uncle ROBERT was killed by the Indians, not long after they came to the country. My father subsequently married and settled about 10 miles Southwest of where Dayton now is and there I was born on the 26th day of December 1802. I have no information of my father's family, any farther back than as before written. Of my father's brothers, JAMES, I think, was twice married, and raised a family of 6 or 7 children, near Cincinnati, where, if any of them are alive, they still are. JOHN married and settled near Oxford, Ohio, on the edge of Indiana, and left two sons--WILSON &  AMBROSE--who went to Iowa, I think. JACOB raised a family near Columbia, where some of them still remain and some went West. I saw an account of a pioneer meeting not long ago in which the name of ZADOCK WILLIAMS and wife * who was or is my cousin, daughter of JACOB GIFFIN, occurred. WILSON GIFFIN was married, but left no children. ISAAC left one son. ELIZABETH, who married a man named ?Camberling, left a family, but how many I know not.

On my mother's side I can go farther back with the account of my ancestors One of my great great grandfathers was JOHN COWAN of Edinburgh, Scotland, who it is said left one child, MARGARET COWAN, who in some way got to Ireland and there married when about 14 years old to WILLIAM BOYD, by whom she had three children--Nancy McConnell, William Boyd and Mary Walker. Two of these were born in Ireland and Mary (Walker) during the voyage to America. She was born about 1710 and died in Pennsylvania about 1802 aged 92 years.

After Boyd came to America, he died, and Margaret subsequently married JOHN WILSON, my great grandfather. By this marriage she had the following children: Abigail Bigger, my grandmother; Samuel Wilson, Elizabeth Scott, Joseph Wilson, Jane Jameson. Of these eight children, Wm. Boyd (Jr.) and Mary Walker died without issue. The heirs of Nancy McConnell were as follows:

Jane McConnell	Sarah Wilson
Samuel McConnell	Mary Wilson
Joseph McConnell	Agnes Walker
John McConnell	Elizabeth Davidson
Robert McConnell	Margaret McClelland
Adam McConnell	Martha Torrence (no children)
William McConnell

Children of Abigail Bigger:

Martha Stewart	MARGARET GIFFIN (my mother)
Mathew Bigger	John Bigger
James Bigger	David Bigger
Samuel Bigger

Children of Samuel Wilson:

Margaret Orr	Martha McCracken (?)
Sarah Hamill	Ann Carothers
Mary Howell	Nancy Stewart
Elizabeth Ruggles (?)

Children of Elizabeth Scott:

Margaret Slater	Wm. Scott
John Scott	Nancy George
Elizabeth Wright	Samuel Scott
Mary McGinniss	James Scott
Joseph Scott

Children of Jane Jameson:

John Jameson	Samuel Jameson
Margaret Jameson	Mathew Jameson

It is not known to me whether Joseph Wilson left any children or not. My other maternal great grandfather was Matthew Bigger, who was married 25 Sept. 1724 to Mary Moore in Ireland. The children of the marriage were:

John Bigger, born Dec. 20, 1725, father of the late Governor Bigger in Indiana, 1840.
Jane Bigger born Feb. 10, 1727
James Bigger born July 28, 1730
Samuel Bigger born April 7, 1733 (my grandfather)
Martha Bigger born Dec. 19, 1735
Joseph Bigger born Dec. 19, 1735 and died Aug. 8, 1739
Thomas Bigger born Sept. 2,1740
Hannah Bigger born Dec. 7, 1743 and died Feb. 4, 1744
Elizabeth Bigger born June 3, 1746.

These constitute my grandfather's brothers and sisters. How many of them came to America, I do not know. John, the oldest, came in 1751; left Ireland, Branalan, parish of Balymony, perhaps the last of Dec. 1751. When my grandfather came to this country, I have no record.

My grandfather, Samuel Bigger, had seven children, as before written. Martha Stewart came to Ohio in early times and raised a family of nine children:

Jane Harper	Abigail Harper
Martha Harper	Margaret Ross
James Stewart	John Stewart
Samuel Stewart	Andrew Stewart

She died in Hamilton Co. O. Matthew Bigger had two or three sons. I never saw but one of them, Samuel, who lived for many years in Washington, Guernsey Co., Ohio, and was a member of the legislature from that county a number of years ago. Samuel, my uncle, settled in Trumbull Co. Ohio. I saw one of his sons 60 years ago perhaps. John Bigger married Margaret McConnell in Greene County, Ohio, and raised a large family and died about 1856 or 1857 in Miami County, Ohio.

This account was written by my father, WILLIAM GIFFIN, about 1870 and copied by me 7th day of Sept. 1901. Signed I. N. Giffin.

A copy was made in Winter Haven, Florida, June 4-7 1923, by Mrs. I. N. GIFFIN and C. G. GIFFIN. WILLIAM GIFFIN of Lima,O. is a direct descendant of WILLIAM GIFFIN I and WILLIAM II. The Giffins of Aurora and Rising Sun descend from JACOB GIFFIN, son of WILLIAM I.

JACOB GIFFIN was born between 1779 and 1784 in Pennsylvania and died in 1809 in old Columbia, now Cincinnati, where he was a schoolteacher. He was married to CATHERINE TOTTEN and had four children: JOHN GIFFIN, ANN GIFFIN, who married COL. ZADOCK WILLIAMS of Red Bank, Hamilton, O.; WILLIAM GIFFIN 1804-1871 of Rising Sun and Aurora, and SAMUEL FERRIES GIFFIN 1808-1899 of Ohio Co. Ind. CATHERINE TOTTEN GIFFIN married (2) AQUILLA CORSON.

LIFE AND EVENTS OF ONE OF OHIO COUNTY PIONEERS.

It is not often that man is permitted to live beyond the Bible's allotted time given him of three score and ten years but the Lord plans our lives and we must bide his time.

Samuel Ferries Giffin was born March 26, 1808, ten miles above Cincinnati on the Little Miami river in Hamilton County, on a farm. His father, Jacob Giffin was a school teacher. Of him he remembers nothing, for he died when he was one year old. His mother's maiden name was Catherine Totten. She was married when thirteen years of age to his father and was married six months before she sit down at the table to eat with him. Bashfulness and preparations of the meal cooked by the fire-place took up so much of her time, as he had to be in his place at the school house and punctuality was as much a virtue to be cultivated and obeyed then as it is today. She could work in the fields, plow oxen and beat most of the men at hard work.

In the later years of her life she gained flesh rapidly and weighed 240 pounds. To them were born four children, three sons and one daughter: William, John, Samuel and Annie Giffin. They are all dead except Samuel Giffin the subject of this sketch.

His mother, Chtherine Giffin lived a widow three years after his father's death and then married Aquilla Corson. There were seven children born to this union, two only are living, Albert Corson of Rising Sun, and Eli Corson of Missouri.

They removed to Columbia Ohio when he was eight years of age and lived there seven years, then removed to Indiana in 1823. In the fall of 1822 his stepfather and brothers came to this country to put in a crop, and they took a trip to take part in a boat turning on Laughery near Hartford where a new boat was being built. They left Samuel at home alone and he heard the wolves outside of the house and becoming alarmed he climbed up in the loft of the house to keep them from getting him. They finally grew tired of waiting for him and went to Jerry Mulford's, three quarters of a mile away and devoured a young calf.

All kinds of wild game was plentiful in those days. He has seen as high as forty deer in a drove and claims that he killed the largest deer that was ever known in this part of the country. You could go out any time and kill a wild turkey. Roast turkey was no rarity in those days. He went out one day to kill a turkey with an old flint lock gun. The lock was broken and when he was ready to shoot, his brother, Eli Corson, lit a match and that ignited the powder and he killed the turkey. One night he went sparking and on his way home he noticed several wild turkeys roosting in a tree and he went back the next morning before time for them to leave their roosts and killed three. The trio weighed sixty pounds. Mr. Giffin once saw five wolves in a drove on the South Fork Hills and killed one. All kinds of game was plentiful until 1835 and after that it became scarce.

In 1822, the fall before he came to Indiana when he lived at Columbus, Ohio, a company of eight or nine boys with as many dogs, guns and clubs started out to kill squirrels that were swarming across the river and destroying everything in their path. By the time they would swim across the river they would be so exhausted that they would easily be killed with the clubs when they crawled up on shore. He killed fifty three one morning.

When he was about four years of age an old wchool teacher named Peters, wanted to take him home with him. Late one evening he came horseback and told little Samuel that he'd come now to take him home. It frightened the child so he ran with his black curls shaking in the wind, straight to Duck Creek to a log that projected over the Creek. The bark had split and was hanging down over the sides of the log so that it made a large aperture and into this he crawled much frightened, expecting every minute to hear the man coming. His parents growing uneasy started started a searching party to find him. They formed in a line and dragged the Creek and it was so dark and late they concluded to build a fire in the room at home and leave the door open. His uncle William Giffin said if he was asleep and should awaken he would see the light and come home. Samuel could see them all the time they were hunting for him but he thought Peters would take him if he was found so he laid still and kept awake. After they gave up the search and everything was quiet about midnight he crawled out and went to the house.

His mother died June 29th, 1832. Mr. Giffin was married to Rachel Conaway, daighter of Samuel Conaway Sept. 10th, 1829 and to them were born seven children of which only three are living. Wm. Giffin near Milton, Jacob Giffin of Nebraska and Rachel Tarbox of Illinois. All of his first wife's children were born in Dearborn County except the youngest, Melissa, who was born in Ohio County.

He has always lived within four miles of the place where they first settled. When they came to Indiana the house being the one being occupied by Louis Thatcher in the fall of 1830 he removed to a farm on South Fork and soon after bought a farm and lived there until 1856. His first wife was economical neat and industrious and her hands were never idle. She adopted the motto cleaniless is next to godliness and her home showed all the evidences of her industry, and she watched every chance to save, ~~turkets~~. She was a noble grand woman and a Christian but God called her home suddenly August 3d, 1849, leaving her husband with seven children. He married his second wife Florinda Gibson daughter of Wm. Gibson of New Hop April 1st, 1851 To them 2 children were born Isabella and Jane. Isabel Heath of Aberdeen Switzerland Co. is the only living child of his second marriage.

In 1856 he sold his farm on South Fork where George Harmeyer now lives to his sons Jacob and Wm. Giffin. He and his wife now reside on the farm with his son William near the old home place on South Fork. On the 26th of last March he reached his 88th mile stone. His mind is clear and he told the store of his life with much enjoyment.

Mr. Giffin says that boating on Laughery was a great thing in early days and the boats were mostly built at Hartford. From 1822 to 1835 they were built all the way up the Creek from Hartford to Napoleon. They were Flat boats and they were the conveyance the people had for getting their produce off to points for down the Ohio and Miss rivers. The government donated $200 or $300 at a time. The people would engage their boats and when the hulls were completed or as soon as a rize came in a creek they would launch them. April 29th, 1829 he saw 40 boats go over the dams and he went over in 9. It took 8 men to manage a boat and each has an oar. They floated them down the creek till they struck backwater and then they soon had them in the river. They would start some person from home with several horses so that they got their boats as far down as they wanted them they could ride back on the horses. In 1835 and 37 there were two steamboats built at Milton and Mr. Giffin helped to run them to Hartford. Their names were Renown and Dolphin. One was 110 ft. one 120. Colonel James had them built to transfer transport cotton from the South to his cotton mill in Rising Sun. Seventy years ago the Milton Mill was raised, the race being dug in the spring of 1826 and the mill raised in the fall. Only men who were strong and full grown were allowed to help raise it. Hamilton Conaway Sr. is the only one living that was present at the raising but he was too young to help with the work. Colonel James hired 50 men to assist at the raising with the understanding that each could get 2 bu. of corn ground at the mill free of toll. Colonel James run the mill 2 years and the first house that was built in Milton was for David Tapley the first miller who boarded the hands and boarded the mill. Judge Downey of Rising Sun married one of his daughters and she is still living. She and Samuel Giffin were baptized the same day in L Creek below the mill by Samuel Julette. After the mill had run for a short time owing to dry weather and the insufficient quantity of water for grinding, they found the race would have to be widened,

Corson

Samuel had the heaviest end of the contract and received $4.00 a rod for his work. Oxen were used for scraping and hauling dirt.

In the spring of 1830 the first store started at Milton and Mr. Giffin bought his first harness there. The store was in the house where David Chillas now lives. Mr. Giffin united with the church at a camp meeting at Clawlin's grove near Bennington in 1839. The meeting was conducted by Bro. Wiley. Mr. Giffin was thoroughly converted at this time and during 14 years as steward and 2 years as class leader he has faithfully followed his master. During a series of revival meetings at New Hope the minister closed his meeting but told them as there was great interest manifested that he authorized Bro. S. Giffin to fill his place and if any wished to unite with the church to give their hands and names to him. Among this number was Wm. Ake of Wood, and he is now an ardent church worker and often have we heard him shout the praises of God. May he be found faithful to the end is Bro.Samuel Giffins prayer and wish for Mr. Ake.

So these to old people Samuel and his wife Florinda Giffin one aged 88 and the other 77 are still living awaiting the call to come up higher and find rest and peace. Mr. Giffin thinks the people of today with all their luxuries and comforts have no more happiness or contentment than they did in the good old pioneer days of the past. New inventions and improvements are not meant to give entire satisfaction.

The first day of last September he took dangerously ill and his recovery was doubtful. He kept his bed constantly for six months and the day of the 88th anniversay of his berth was the first he had set up all day for several days weeks before his long illness. When asked by his physician D. VanOsdel of Allensville, if he could be ready should the Lord call him, he said I feel that my situation is like that of Moses when the children of Israel he reached the Red Sea. The mountains are on each side of me the enemy behind me and standing on the edge of the billows, I am waiting to see the salvation of God.

To Mari, Thank you for your quick response. We have gleaned the following information and I will send photocopies of anything I think you will find interesting. I have not cracked the scanner yet but I will. We found evidence of a Robert Giffin in Ayrshire ,Scotland who was under the patronage of Lord Hamilton and came under the clan of Hamilton. He lived in Giffin Castle which is on the old road between Beith and Dalry. There was a Giffin station also and these are shown on old maps. They are no longer there but we had only time for a quick search and always intended to return. Sir Robert Giffin sounds a really interesting character. Other research in Scotland indicates that religious reasons caused many Giffins to move to Northern Ireland and to North America and Canada. We were in Ottowa a few years ago and found that the American Ambassador was a Giffin, but he did not respond to our request for family information. Another Giffin owns a golf complex in Ontaria. We did meet a Bess Giffin about 10 years ago, she had married a Carl Giffin in Wichita. She thought his father had come from Ireland but he may have departed from Cobh as ships from there took people from all over The British Isles. Bess died this year at the good age of 108.We are in the process of re decorating and all my family tree information is packed away this information is off the top of my head.

ALEXANDRIA.

Alexandria was located by the Nebraska Land and Town Company in 1871, and named in honor of S. J. Alexander, the present Secretary of State. Situated on the St. Joe & Western Railway, in the fertile valley of the Big Sandy, near the northeast boundary of the county, it is surrounded by as fine an agricultural and grazing country as is to be found in Southern Nebraska. It is the largest railroad town in the county, having a population of a little over 500. Its growth has been steady and substantial. Its business men represent considerable capital and are noted for their enterprise and thrift.

The first permanent settlement in the county was made just south of town on the divide between the Big Sandy and the Little Blue, by the Nightingales, in 1858, followed, in 1859, by Isaac Alexander. It had reached the required population, and, the 23d of June, 1881, was organized as a village with the following Trustees: F. B. Hubbard, Chairman; T. J. Holt, G. W. Enlow, John Nightingale, Samuel Lockwood; M. T. Abbott, Clerk; C. A. Fowler, Treasurer.

ALEXANDRIA.

Alexandria was located by the Nebraska Land and Town Company in 1871, and named in honor of S. J. Alexander, the present Secretary of State. Situated on the St. Joe & Western Railway, in the fertile valley of the Big Sandy, near the northeast boundary of the county, it is surrounded by as fine an agricultural and grazing country as is to be found in Southern Nebraska. It is the largest railroad town in the county, having a population of a little over 500. Its growth has been steady and substantial. It had reached the required population, and, the 23d of June, 1881, was organized as a village with the following Trustees: F. B. Hubbard, Chairman; T. J. Holt, G. W. Enlow, John Nightingale, Samuel Lockwood; M. T. Abbott, Clerk; C. A. Fowler, Treasurer.

Thus far no licenses to sell liquor have been granted.

Alexandria has been very unfortunate, having been visited by three severe storms in the past six years. The first, in 1875, destroyed a $6,000 school building that had just been completed. The damage of the second, in 1877, was slight, but that of June, 1881, was very great to property and life. We will not recapitulate, but refer the reader to "Storms" in the county history, where a full account can be found.

The Alexandria News, a quarto weekly newspaper, was established in 1879 by S. E. Babcock, under the name of The Alexandrian. In 1880, M. J. Abbott purchased the paper and changed the name. W. W. Wirt, the present editor and proprietor, purchased the paper in 1881, and is making it popular as a town and county paper.

A flouring-mill with sufficient capacity for custom work is situated on the opposite side of Big Sandy, the property of Mr. Mall. It is a remarkable fact, we are told, that twenty years ago, where this mill now has a sufficient supply of water, running water was not known only after heavy rains or the snow thaws in the spring, and that the head of the stream is not ten miles away. Besides this mill, the town has the benefit of the large mill at the ancient village of Meridian, on the Little Blue, about two and a half miles distant.

The schools of Alexandria are in good condition, but since the calamity of 1875, the loss of a $6,000 building, they have enjoyed a much smaller and less expensive schoolhouse. The school is graded and ranks next to that of Hebron, employing three teachers. The people are generally intelligent and take great interest in education.

CHURCHES.

Alexandria is the most religious town in the county, if we are to judge by the number of organized denominations and their membership. That it is a moral community is shown by not granting liquor licenses. The denominations represented are Baptist, Presbyterian, Methodist and Catholic, all of which, except the Presbyterian, have good church buildings.

Baptist.--The Baptist Church was organized by Rev. Mark Noble, of Fairbury, July 21, 1872, with only four members, George Enslow, Elizabeth, Josiah and S. J. Wands. In 1880, they erected a $1,400 house of worship, a commodious and ornamental building. It was greatly damaged by the hail storm of June, 1881. The present membership is about eighty. Rev. S. T. O'Connor was the first resident pastor, succeeded by Rev. J. Lewelling, the present pastor, four years ago.

Presbyterian.--This denomination, by Rev. Mr. Cunningham, was organized in 1875. They hold meetings in the Methodist Church alternate Sabbaths. They have thirty-five members at present. The first pastor was Rev. George Schults, followed by J. B. Vawter, who was succeeded by the present pastor, Rev. Charles Brouillette, in 1882.

Methodist. -- The M. E. Church, with only six members, organized in 1875, but they have a membership of seventy at present. They built a $1,500 house of worship in 1879, which was severely injured by the storm of June, 1831. Rev. Louis Willard, E. J. Hancock, Mr. Nichols, J. W. Dobbs, and J. G. Orr have consecutively filled the position of pastorate.

Catholic.--This denomination organized in 1876, and built a $700 church and $500 parsonage. There are thirty-four families in the parish. Father P. J. Erlach has been the only

SOCIETIES.

Alexandria Lodge, No. 74, A., F. & A. M., was instituted in October, 1878, with nine members, which has increased to thirty-four. The officers are D. A. Sherwood, W. M.; O. H. Martin, S. W.; A. M. Alexander, J. W.; E. M. Jenkins, Treasurer; G. H. Danforth, Secretary; H. W. Hubbard, S. D.; George Holds, J. D.; D. W. Clark, Tiler.

Temple Lodge, No. 78, I. O. O. F.-- Instituted March, 1879. The present membership is thirty-five. Officers--Frank Parmelee, W. G.; John Cunningham, V. G.; George Franklin, Secretary; H. H. Austin, Guardian; M. Thomas, P. G.; G. A. Myer, Treasurer.

The Independent Order of Good Templars has a good working society at this place, to whose efforts is largely due the fact that Alexandria is a temperance town. There are thirty members with the following officers: Miss Hattie Haskins, W. C. T.; Miss Flora Haskins, W. V. T.; E. H. Burnham, W. S.; Miss Carrie Jackson, W. F. S.; D. Black, W. T.; W. T. Hill, P. W. C. T.; R. Gist, O. S. S.; R. Haskins, I. S. G.; H. Haskins, Marshal.

HUBBELL.

The town of Hubbell is situated in the southeastern part of Thayer County on Rose Creek, a beautiful and well-timbered stream, deriving a large part of its waters from springs along its course. The surrounding country is beautiful, fertile and rapidly settling up with a good class of farmers.

The town was laid out in August, 1880, by the Lincoln Land Company on the farm of H. H. Johnston. Although scarcely two years old, it has a population of over 300, and the business portion of the town presents a solid and substantial appearance. The opening of the Republican Branch of the Burlington & Missouri, in the fall of 1880, gave an impetus to emigration to this part of the county. The town gets a large trade from Kansas, the limits of Hubbell extending to the State Line, south of which there are many old settlements.

There are three quarries of excellent limestone within and adjoining the town site. These are being extensively worked and to them is partly due the rapid growth of the place.

The people have taken an active interest in education, which seems to be a prevailing characteristic of these new towns. They have erected a $3,000 school building, a convenient and ornamental structure. The school is graded and ranks next to that of Alexandria.

The religion of the place as yet is in a chaotic state. There are a great many denominations represented, and, although there are a number of them that have occasional meetings, no separate church has been organized. There was an effort made to establish an independent church, in which all should unite, but this proved a failure. They, however, all unite in the interest of the rising generation, and have a union Sunday school which is very prosperous.

It is most likely that within a year the Baptist Presbyterians and Methodists will effect organizations and erect one or two houses of worship.

board in their record assert the same of it — & other evidence than that of the applicant was adduced to the board to prove the value of the property contained in the schedule. The applicants daughter who is very poor & destitute & on whom he testified that he depended for support has pledged her credit to obtain many necessaries for him in his last sickness, trusting & expecting to make payments from the avails of his pension to a continuance of which she supposed he had a meritorious & unquestioned claim. If his pension can be continued & certificate dated before Nov. 6. 1820 an administrator will be appointed or appointed before a certificate is granted if requested. It is expected by the applicants that the returns when prepared will be sent to me —

To the Honorable John C Calhoun
Secretary of war

Hartford January 26th 1821.

Sir

Papers are inclosed to obtain pensions for Elijah Noble & Roswell Case & additional exhibits as required for Johnson Cleveland Jesse Matthews & Matthew Lee

In the case of Simon Giffen it was noted that he must appear in open Court but as this can not be done Judge Day has certified that it has ever been impossible for Mr Giffen to come before the Court by reason of sickness which terminated in his death on the 6th of Nov 1820. It is supposed there can be no stronger case than this in which the applicant may avail himself of the act of May 1st 1820 which provides that previous to the continuation of his pension his oath shall have been taken before some one of the Judges of a Court of record the words of the act being in the alternative "before the said Court or some one of the Judges thereof". The applicant by the act of God could not in person exhibit the schedule or produce the oath to the Court but it is apprehended that no serious inconvenience can arise from his doing the same by the Judge Counsel or other person. The Judge has certified that he took the original deposition of the Court in their record assert the same fact — & other evidence than that of the applicant was adduced to the Court to prove the value of the property contained in the schedule. The applicants daughter who is very poor & destitute & on whom he testified that he depended for support has pledged her credit to obtain many necessaries for him in his last sickness hoping & expecting to make payments from the avails of his pension to a continuance of which she supposed he had a meritorious & undoubted claim. If his pension can be continued & certificate dated before Nov. 6. 1820 an administrator will be appointed or appointed before a certificate is granted if required. It is expected by the applicants that the returns when prepared will be sent to me —

I remain sir very respectfully your obedt servt

Th Chester

Clerk of the County Court or Court of Common Pleas in and for said County of Hartford.

Simon Giffin enlisted 28 February 1777 in the Connecticut Line. He served as a Private and commenced as a Sergeant Major 12 April 1778 and as a Quartermaster Sergeant a month later in May. Simon first served in Samuel B. Webb's 3rd Connecticut Regiment and later in General Isreal Putnam in the fortification of West Point in preparation for the defense and installation of "The Great Chain" on the Hudson River. Simon's name was place on the Pension Roll 12 May 1818, less than 2 ½ years before his death.

During his military service, he kept a diary and the Regiment Quartermaster book in which he set down an account of rations drawn and issued by him. In 1882 these were in the possession of his great-grandson, John G. Belden of Wethersfield, Connecticut. The Connecticut State Library in Hartford is now in possession of the diary and the Quartermaster book.

In 2002 the Library reviewed the Quartermaster book in connection with the 225th Anniversary of the Founding of the Fortress West Point. Simon has kept colorful and detailed accounts of the first months of 1778 when West Point was first occupied and before the fortification had begun. His accounts of the day-to-day happenings and of an early mutiny among the Connecticut troops is very detailed. The comings and goings of the officers are interspersed with daily weather readings and the status of the ice in the Hudson River.

One of Giffin's most interesting accounts was that of crossing the ice-covered river on a bleak day in late January. He recorded many plaguing problems as a sergeant in the under-staffed unit. His penmanship, spelling and grammar were incidental details, which had to take a back seat in comparison with the events, which his foresight recorded. The reading of the manuscript is a task in itself. Every effort has been made to retain the original flavor of the diarist's construction, but this is not to say that the original intent has been discovered in every case. On of the most unusual words he used was remarkbell for remarkable.

Here is a short part of his account:
A cold morning, but clear –Marched over the River and the ice—Marched back a gain for there was no Place to Lodge there on the West side of the River. So we had to go into the woods and make fires and make our beds on the snow. We made a hut that 15 of us lay pretty warm considering the weather being so very cold.

He would report later that, on 1 February 1778, he "Lay at West Point, in his hut, indicating that the troops has firmly established themselves on the west shore of the Hudson.

Earlier General George Washington had been appointed by the Continental Congress to work with the New York Provincial Congress to make plans to fortify the Hudson River against the British. An engineer was appointed to begin the construction of a large fort on the island that was to be named "Fort Constitution." The island is a mass of rock that divides the bed of the Hudson River unequally at the bend around the point, the western branch being a marshy shallow.

The island is a mass of rock that divides the bed of the Hudson River unequally at the bend around the point, the western branch being a marshy shallow.

The fort had begun to be built when the British went up the Hudson River from New York City in 1777, the small group of American Soldiers encamped on the island were ordered to destroy as much as possible of the unfinished fort and then they fled. The British troops occupied the island for 20 days. Fort Constitution was never rebuilt. The old fort ruins became known as Constitution Island.

In January of 1778, Samuel B. Webb's Regiment of the Connecticut Line began the early recognizance between the point and the island, this is where my Simon Giffin served and maintained the diary.

The area across the River from the Island was higher ground and was selected as the new site for building the forts that became known as the Fortess at West Point. It is now called West Point and now known as the United States Military Academy. The island became an important part of the United States Military Academy when it was donated in 1908.

On 25 January 2003, a group of re-enactors from the 2nd New York Regiment and the 5th Connecticut Regiments ventured out from the shores of the Constitution Island onto the frozen Hudson River in commemoration of the historic crossing made to West Point 225 years ago.

The re-enactors were also accompanied by a camera crew producing a documentary for PBS about the chaining of the Hudson in the American Revolution. An event was also held in May 2003 at West Point and Constitution Island to salute the technical achievement of forging the Great Chain and floating it on logs across the river for the first time on 30 April 1778.

The use of "The Great Chain" is an amazing story of the Revolutionary War. To prevent the British from ascending the Hudson River in their armed ships, a chain 500 yards long – the length of 5 football fields.

Made of the best iron available by the Sterling Iron Works in New York, each link was 2 feet long, 2 and 1 quarter inches square, and weighed 180 pounds. There were 870 links weighing a giant 35 ton that floated on a series of spiked logs on the river bottom. Engineered to prevent any iron-beaked vessel from breaking it under the combined forces of wind and tide. It was a marvelous engineering achievement. It was anchored into the mass of rocks on the Island laid across the Hudson River to West Point.

The chain was used from 1778 to 1782, but never tested in its effectiveness against the British ships, because the focus of the war shifted to other battlegrounds. Portions of "The Great Chain" are now on display at Trophy Point at West Point.

The fort had begun to be built when the British went up the Hudson River from New York City in 1777, the small group of American Soldiers encamped on the island were ordered to destroy as much as possible of the unfinished fort and then they fled. The British troops occupied the island for 20 days. Fort Constitution was never rebuilt. The old fort ruins became known as Constitution Island.

In January of 1778, Samuel B. Webb's Regiment of the Connecticut Line began the early reconnaissance between the point and the island, this is where my Simon Griffin served and maintained the diary.

The area across the River from the Island was higher ground and was selected as the new site for building the fort that became known as the Fortress at West Point. It is now called West Point and now known as the United States Military Academy. The island became an important part of the United States Military Academy when it was donated in 1908.

On 25 January 2003, a group of re-enactors from the 2nd New York Regiment and the 5th Connecticut Regiments ventured out from the shores of the Constitution Island onto the frozen Hudson River in commemoration of the historic crossing made to West Point 225 years ago.

The re-enactors were also accompanied by a camera crew producing a documentary for PBS about the chaining of the Hudson in the American Revolution. An event was also held in May 2003 at West Point and Constitution Island to salute the technical achievement of forging the Great Chain and floating it on logs across the river for the first time on 30 April 1778.

The use of "The Great Chain" is an amazing story of the Revolutionary War. To prevent the British from ascending the Hudson River in their armed ships, a chain 500 yards long – the length of 5 football fields.

Made of the best iron available by the Sterling Iron Works in New York, each link was 2 feet long, 2 and 1 quarter inches square, and weighed 180 pounds. There were 870 links weighing a giant 35 ton that floated on a series of spiked logs on the river bottom. Engineered to prevent any iron-backed vessel from breaking it under the combined forces of wind and tide. It was a marvelous engineering achievement. It was anchored into the mass of rocks on the Island laid across the Hudson River to West Point.

The chain was used from 1778 to 1782, but never tested in its effectiveness against the British ships, because the focus of the war shifted to other battlegrounds. Portions of "The Great Chain" are now on display at Trophy Point at West Point.

Giffin's Diary
The first fortification of West Point

Introduction

A photo-copy of a Revolutionary War Diary was being reviewed at the Connecticut state library in Hartford a dew months ago as part of a research project regarding west point's part in that war. It is almost axiomatic to think that all of the primary sources on this subject have long since surfaced. In this case at least, the axiom is wrong. The diary of Quartermaster Sergeant Simon Giffin was found to contain colorful and detailed accounts of the first months of 1778 when west point was first occupied and the familiar fortification begun – a period full of question marks because of the dearth of information previously available. The day-to-day minutia of fatigue details of an early mutiny among the Connecticut troops and the exact days that first stones were laid on the breastworks. The comings and goings of the officers are interspersed with daily weather readings and the status of the ice in the river. All-in-all it recreates the flavor of those times in a way that makes it as valuable for background material as it is for the new facts brought to light.

Giffin belonged to the regiment of Samuel Blatchley Webb, the young stepson of Silas Deane from Wethersfield, Connecticut. Webb, then 25, had already been aide to Washington an, before that, to general Israel Putnam. He formed his own regiment in early 1777, choosing as his second-in-command 21 year old Billy Livingston from the wealthy New York family. The story of this regiment would be a fascinating study by itself but it forms the background against which this diary must be viewed. Livingston had been captured at the fall of Fort Montgomery in October 1777 and Webb himself fell into enemy hands in an attack against British positions on long island in early December 1777. This attack may have liberated Livingston where he had previously been held. The remainder of Webb's regiment rallied near their homes in Connecticut and were set in motion toward the Hudson River on the 13th of January[1] from their encampment at Wethersfield. Webb had been released on parole by his captors in an effort to arrange for an exchange of prisoners and was also in Wethersfield at this time. He was unable to affect his own exchange, however, and spent more than three years in the hands of the enemy before returning to command these troops – by then known as one of the finest regiments in the Continental service.

The regiment marched across Connecticut and into New York State under the command of Captain Jonathan Wyllys whose brother, Samuel, commanded another Connecticut regiment soon to join them at west point. Captain Wyllys was a friend, at Yale, of the recently martyred Nathan Hale and was destined to become the first officer in the United States Army to be killed in action after the Revolutionary War.[2] During the 10-day trek to the Hudson the Captain had the able support of four lieutenants and three ensigns. There were eight companies in the regiment, averaging at that time, 30 men per company. Their route led them throughhartford,

A photo-copy of a Revolutionary War Diary was being reviewed at the Connecticut state library in Hartford a few months ago as part of a research project regarding west point's part in that war. It is almost axiomatic to think that all of the primary sources on this subject have long since surfaced. In this case at least, the axiom is wrong. The diary of Quartermaster Sergeant Simon Giffin was found to contain colorful and detailed accounts of the first months of 1778 when west point was first occupied and the familiar fortification began – a period full of question marks because of the dearth of information previously available. The day-to-day minutia of fatigue details of an early mutiny among the Connecticut troops and the exact days that first stones were laid on the bastionworks. The comings and goings of the officers are interspersed with daily weather readings and the status of the ice in the river. All-in-all it recreates the flavor of those times in a way that makes it as valuable for background material as it is for the new facts brought to light.

Giffin belonged to the regiment of Samuel Hatchley Webb, the young stepson of Silas Deane from Wethersfield, Connecticut. Webb, then 25, had already been aide to Washington an, before that, to general Israel Putnam. He formed his own regiment in early 1777, choosing as his second-in-command 21 year old Billy Livingston from the wealthy New York family. The story of this regiment would be a fascinating study by itself but it forms the background against which this diary must be viewed. Livingston had been captured at the fall of Fort Montgomery in October 1777 and Webb himself fell into enemy hands in an attack against British positions on long island in early December 1777. This attack may have liberated Livingston where he had previously been held. The remainder of Webb's regiment rallied near their homes in Connecticut and were set in motion toward the Hudson River on the 13th of January from their encampment at Wethersfield. Webb had been released on parole by his captors in an effort to arrange for an exchange of prisoners and was also in Wethersfield at this time. He was unable to affect his own exchange, however, and spent more than three years in the hands of the enemy before returning to command these troops – by then known as one of the finest regiments in the Continental service.

The regiment marched across Connecticut and into New York state under the command of Captain Jonathan Wyllys whose brother, Samuel, commanded another Connecticut regiment soon to join them at west point. Captain Wyllys was a friend, at Yale, of the recently murdered Nathan Hale and was destined to become the first officer in the United States Army to be killed in action after the Revolutionary War.[1] During the 10-day trek to the Hudson the Captain had the able support of four lieutenants and three ensigns. There were eight companies in the regiment, averaging at that time, 30 men per company. Their route led them through Danbury.

[1] Details of the march to the Hudson are carefully set down in the diary of Nathan Beer, one of Webb's lieutenants. Beer's unpublished diary is in the manuscript collection of the Sterling Library, Yale University.

[2] John Palsgrave Wyllys served throughout the Revolutionary War to include the command of the Connecticut troops in LaFayette's Light Infantry at Yorktown. His wife died not long after he returned from the war and in 1785 he resumed his commission in the newly formed United States Army. He was killed in action in October 1790 in General Harmar's expedition against the Indians. Johnston, H.P. Record of Connecticut Men in the War of the Revolution, Hartford, 1889.

Harrington, Litchfield and Dover to Fishkill where they paused to prepare for the move across the river on the ice.

General isreal Putnam had been order to start fortifying west point in preparation for the defencse of the new chain whish was to be located there. Putnam was a believer in "leadership-by-example" and Giffin's record of the river crossing is amplified in the following account by a drummer-boy from the same regiment:[3]

> "When General Putnam was ready to go over on the ice he called me to him. He then loaded me with tools for building huts and took a heavy load himself and bade me follow him, so I followed behind him; when we got about half a mile on the ice, he went on some shelly ice, bagan to slip about, and down he went with his load of tools and made the ice crack so that I thought he would go down, but the ice held him up again. We then went on and arrived safe on the point."

Crossing the ice of Hudson River on a bleak day in late January was only one of the many problems plaguing Giffin as a sergeant in the under-staffed unit. He penmanship, spelling and grammar were incidental details, which had to take a back seat in comparison with the events, which his foresight recorded. The reading of the manuscript is a task in itself. Every effort has been made to retain the original flavor of the diarist's construction but this is not to say that the original intent has been discovered in every case. It is a "remarkbell" document.

The visit to the huts at west point mentioned above was only five days prior to Putnam's letter to Congress (National Archives) wherein he reported "Barracks for the artificers and huts for about three hundred men are completed . . . The field officers (and captains as well) were all absent and the regiment was led by Lieutenant Samuel Richards. He has given an excellent description of the winter encampment in Personal Narrative of an Officer in the Revolutionary War, United Service, October 1903. Richards soon became a part of Parsons' staff at brigade headquarters when Parsons moved to the west point side.

Isaac's Harbour and Goldboro

This is a Novia Scotia information placed on the web by

The Guysborough County GenWeb Project

http://www.geocities.com/Heartland/Acres/6783/IsaacsHbr.htm

Before the first white settlers arrived at Isaac's Harbour, the area had been home to first, a group of Micmac Indians, and then to a black family, of whom the patriarch was Isaac Webb. Isaac's Harbour takes its name from this Isaac, whose homestead was on the east side of the harbour (later called Goldboro with the opening of gold mines in that area). The small cove there is still known as Webb's Cove.

The Webb extended family also included the surnames of Clyght (Clyke), Harrigan, and Paris. This small community of black families eventually migrated to other larger centers. The last surviving descendant of the original settlers was Henry Webb, who died in 1935, and is buried in the little cemetery at Red Head at the extreme southern end of Goldboro. The only marker in the cemetery is for Henry Webb, although there are many older graves, some of which are being washed away with the erosion of the hillside, which faces the sea.

In the early 1830's, the first white settlers arrived. Brothers John and Allen MacMillan, and Simon and Ira Giffin left Louis Head, Shelburne County and settled at Isaac's Harbour, receiving the first land grants in the area.

By the 1850's many other families had migrated to the area, becoming involved in sawmills, shipbuilding, farming and fishing. Some of the families of the Stormont Loyalists moved overland to Isaac's Harbour, where it was by far a more prosperous and sociable place to live. The first church services were held in private homes until the Baptist Church was built in 1840. Then when the new Baptist Church was built in 1873-74, the old Church building was used as the schoolhouse. From 1852 until this time, school had been held in a room of John MacMillan's store. A new school was built on the same site in 1921, and was operational until its closure in the 1970's. Within a few years, the Isaac's Harbour school building was turned into a medical center which serves the area well. In Goldboro, the first school was built on Richardson's Point in 1854, with several newer school houses being built over the next twenty years. In 1904 a four-room school was built, which served the community until the 1970's. In recent years, the school building has been turned into a community centre.

Names of the first members of the Isaac's Harbour Baptist Church from its formation in 1840 were:

In 1899 the Goldboro Baptist church was organized, and soon a large new church was built on the east side of the harbour. One minister served both Churches, holding services alternately mornings and evenings.

In the early days of the communities, travel was conducted by boat or on footpaths leading from one end of the harbour to the other. An early road led from Country Harbour to Isaac's Harbour, but it was not until the 1860's that a road was begun from Isaac's Harbour to New Harbour.

The first lighthouse in the area was erected in 1874, and lasted until 1929 when the current lighthouse was built. The lighthouses were maintained by various Lightkeepers over the years, until 1966, when automation came about.

Isaac's Harbour Lighthouse

In the 1860's the discovery of gold in the area turned Isaac's Harbour and Goldboro into booming mining towns. Many newcomers arrived to work the mines; some remained in the area after the gold petered out. At the peak of prosperity, there were at least a dozen stores and more than a dozen wharves. There was even a railway which carried coal, brought by ships, into the mines to supply the boilers there. The village of Goldbrook quickly sprang up around the mining operations, with homes, shops and other businesses. It disappeared just as quickly when the gold mines shut down.

Isaac's Harbour and Goldboro suffered a serious economic decline with the closure of the various mining operations in the 1940's. Some of the miners moved to other mining towns in Cape Breton, Pictou County, and Ontario. Some chose a different line of work, and became seamen on the ships of the Great Lakes for part of each year, returning to their homes and families each fall. Others fished and/or worked cutting pulpwood.

The present is a time for new growth in the area, with the Sable Offshore Energy Project ofering employment for many local residents.

HISTORY OF THE 14TH BROOKLYN

The rosters of the 14th Brooklyn, also known as the Brooklyn Chasseurs, were contributed by John Stevenson, who was coordinator of the Clinton County NYGenWeb. John passed away July 18, 1999. The regimental crest proudly displays the regimental motto "Baptized by Fire". John's interest in this regiment was shared with his father, who commanded Company E in the 1920's, and wrote articles about the regimental actions in the battles of Bull Run and Gettysburg. Originally a militia regiment, formed in 1847 as the Fourteenth Regiment, N.Y.S.M., the men of the 14th Brooklyn served a full three year enlistment, returning home to Brooklyn on May 25th 1864.

Further information about the 14th appears in that segment of the "New York in the War of the Rebellion 1861 to 1865", compiled by Frederick Phisterer, 2nd Edition, Albany: Weed, Parsons and Company, 1890, detailing the career of the Eighty-Fourth Regiment of Infantry. The full entry from page 441 of this book states that:

"The 14th State Militia, failing to be ordered to the front under the first call for troops, organized, under Col. Alfred M. Wood, and special authority from the War Department, as a regiment of volunteers; it was recruited in Brooklyn, mustered in the service of the United States for three years between May and Aug., 1861, turned over to the State in Sept., 1861, and received its numerical volunteer designation Dec. 7th, 1861. Its engineer company was mustered out Aug. 21st, 1861. The men not entitled to be discharged with the regiment served from May 21st, 1864, with the 12th Battalion, N.Y. Vols., and were, June 2d, 1864, transferred to the 5th Veteran N.Y. Vols.

The regiment left the State May 18th, 1861, except Companies I and K, which joined it in July, 1861; served at and near Washington, D.C. from May 19th, 1861; in Andrew Porter's Brigade, Army N. E. Va., from Jun, 1861, in Keyes' Brigade, Division Potomac, from Aug. 4th, 1861; in same, 1st. Brigade, McDowell's Division, A. P. from Oct. 15th, 1861; in 3d Brigade, McDowall's Division, A.P., from Feb., 1862; in Augur's, 1st Brigade, King's Division, 1st Corps, A. P., from March, 1862; in same brigade and division, Department Rappahannock, from May, 1862; in 1st Brigade, 1st Division, 3d Corps, A. Va., from June 26th, 1862; in 1st Brigade, 1st Division, 1st Corps, A. P., from Sept. 12th, 1862; in 2d Brigade, 1st Division, 1st Corps, A. P., from June, 1863; in 2d Brigade, 4th Division, 5th Corps, from March, 1864, and, May 21st, 1864, it was ordered to New York city, and there, under Col. Edward B. Fowler, honorably discharged and mustered out on June 14th, to date June 6th, 1864.

During its service the regiment lost by death, killed in action, 5 officers, 83 enlisted men; of wounds received in action, 3 officers, 61 enlisted men; of disease and other causes, 74 enlisted men; total 8 officers, 218 enlisted men; aggregate, 226; of whom 17 enlisted men died in the hands of the enemy; and it took part in the following engagements; etc.:"

Page 442 presents Phisterer's chart of engagements and casualties at each. The aggregate loss of the regiment is stated to be 716 men, which includes men deemed missing. Engagements are as follows:

Mrs. Nora Giffin Succumbs After Heart Attack; Services Held Tuesday

MRS. NORA GIFFIN

Friends, neighbors and relatives in the Elk Township area were saddened this week to learn of the death of Mrs. Nora Giffin. Mrs. Giffin passed away at the Marshall Browning hospital in Du Quoin following a heart attack which occurred a week before her death.

Mrs. Giffin resided on Seventh street with her husband, Roy, who is a retired coal miner. A life-long resident of Elk Township, she was born at Hallidayboro, December 2, 1890, the daughter of Tom and Mary Swan, both deceased.

She was married to Roy S. Giffin on May 12, 1909. She was a life-long member of the Elkville Methodist Church, and was active in the Order of Eastern Star and the White Shrine.

The esteem in which Mrs. Giffin was held in her community was evident by the throngs of people and the overflowing floral tributes which were present at the Schroeder Funeral Home on Monday evening. Rev. Fisher in his funeral sermon eulogized her as a perfect example of "Mother" and spoke of her devotion to her home and family.

Surviving, in addition to her husband, are one son and one daughter, Mrs. Amy Knowles and Clifford Giffin, both of Elkville; three sisters, Mrs. Ethel Applegath of Princeton, Ind., Mrs. Bess Miller of Du Quoin, and Mrs. Amy Immerman of Pacific Grove, California; two brothers, Tom Swan of St. Charles, Illinois, and Milford Bill Swan of Elkville; three grandchildren, Judy Kay Knowles, Linda Lou and Jimmie Giffin.

Funeral services were conducted at 2 p.m. Tuesday from Elkville Methodist Church with Reverends Glen Fisher, George Leathers, and Jack Pennington officiating. Burial was in Elkville cemetery.

Fifteen Years Ago In Blackwell

When the ammonia pipe broke just east of the engine room at the Lahman Ice plant a day or two ago and wind carried the fumes to the barn near by, three of the horses were badly affected by the fumes. Two of them are blind and their lungs are badly affected. It is thought that one of the horses will die. The men at the plant worked with the horses all night, giving and bathing them with hot vinegar or they probably would have all died.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Major and son who have been visiting their sister, Mrs. A. M. Linxwiler and family, and aunt, Mrs. J. H. Jackson, and Mr. Jackson, left this morning for their home in St. Louis.

Mrs. T. F. Herter entertained several little people at the J. V. Turner home Thursday in honor of her little daughter, Theodora's second birthday. Several of the guests were unable to attend. Those present were Sammy and Billie Gary, Walden Tucker, Kenneth and

Store And Waffle Supper On Wednesday

Gather round the cracker barrel boys and we'll spin a yarn of yore. "Fetch 'em a mug o' cider, Emmy—all right Abner let's hear yore story about Bull Run again'."

Or something to that effect. Anyway the Progressive class of the Braman Baptist church, is sponsoring an old fashioned store and waffle supper starting at 5:30 o'clock Wednesday night in the Les Rosenberry building at Braman, and it's to be quite the novelty.

Merchants from Blackwell and Braman have donated merchandise of all types, to wit: electric fans, toasters, clothing, silk hose, wheat, oats, hay, chickens, costume jewelry, flour, sugar, coffee—all kinds of groceries, oil, gasoline, hair cut and shave (tickets) cleaning and pressing (tickets), pies, cosmetics, in fact, most everything you can think of.

In the "store" will be a 10 cent and 25 cent counter where you will be sure to get more than your money's worth. And what's more there will be an auction sale with Stanley Killion wielding the hammer.

Proceeds from the sale will go to the church building fund. Much progress has been made in the church during the past two years, while the Rev. H. D. Palmer has been the pastor. And November 15 is to be home coming day for the church and also "payoff" day, when the church will settle its building obligations.

In addition to the sale there will be a waffle supper. Flour for the waffles is being furnished by the Blackwell mill; butter by Briggs Dairy Products company, and the Turvey Packing company is furnishing the sausage.

A serving of waffles will be 10 cents; sausage, five cents; pie five cents. Goods offered for sale will run in value up to $10. At the sale counters, in their bibs and tuckers of yesteryear will be Stanley Killion, E. T. Wilkey, W. A. Smith, Reverend Palmer, Henry Wolfe and Orville Caldwell.

Everybody's invited to drop into the old fashioned store for a good time and bargains. It's Wednesday night, folks. Remember.

At the home coming meeting in November Archie Via of Blackwell, and John Via of Poteau, will be on hand. They are sons of the founder of the church, the late Rev. James Via.

Farm Pond Program Is Urged Upon Key

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 24 — Possibility that construction of farm ponds may rate second only to the widespread farm to market road program of the Works Progress administration in Oklahoma as a means of employing Oklahoma's drouth stricken farmers this winter loomed today as W. S. Key, state administrator, reopened an intensive study of the emergency relief situation.

Most farmers, even those who have been forced upon relief temporarily by last summer's drouth, possess terms which have to be fed. Construction of farm ponds will provide an opportunity for many of these farmers to make a profit out of teams which otherwise would be idle. The established WPA rate for two up teams is twenty five cents an hour which would be $2.00 a day under the WPA scale of hours.

New emphasis on farm ponds and a new appeal for expansion of this type of work reached Key in the

"3. Recreational center, particularly in regard to fishing.

"4. Very desirable refuge for migratory water fowl during the annual autumnal journey south.

"Inasmuch as these farm ponds are primarily to insure an ample supply of water for stock during periods of extreme drouth they should, of necessity, be constructed only at such places where the natural contour of the land will provide a deep body of water. Every such pond would support desirable fish life, particularly blue gill and crappie. Even in red waters such as are so prevalent in Oklahoma, crappie flourish.

"Millions of dollars are being spent by the United States Biological survey and other agencies to provide large resting areas for migratory water fowl in the plains states. Oklahomans profit little directly from this program although thousands of dollars collected in this state by the sale of duck stamps go into its support. When migratory water fowl reach the borders of

MOXON PLEASED BY WHEAT YIELD IN KAY COUNTY

Mill Running Full Blast, 24 Hours A Day, With 60 Men Employed.

Despite drouth conditions, this was the best year for wheat in the past three years, according to Dave Moxon, manager of the Blackwell Mill and Elevator, as far as Kay county, at least, is concerned.

The Blackwell mill has been running full blast, 24 hours a day, since the latter part of June. First wheat came in to the mill on June 14. About 60 men have been given steady employment at the mill since that time.

Moxon said the mill is averaging about 1,000 barrels of flour each 24 hour period, consuming approximately 4,800 bushels of wheat to make that flour. Town Crier is the chief brand of the company, but it produces several other brands varying in protein content.

"Kay county was the favorite county of Oklahoma in wheat production this year," Moxon said, "producing wheat of as good a quality if not better than any other locality in the state." Government estimates placed the state production this year at 26,000,000 bushels, but Moxon was unable to estimate the county production this season.

Wheat was excellent, but the oat crop was poor and there was practically no corn.

Moxon announced Saturday night that the company is shipping in corn, cotton seed meal, cotton seed peacake, dairy feed, hog feed and poultry feed. Through a new government ruling, this will be sold to the farmers at a special rate which charges only one third of the regular freight rates. This is in effect from September 15 to December 15.

The gap of a new spark plug recently placed on the market is adjusted automatically by phototube control of a vibrating hammer which holds it within plus or minus 0.00015 inch.

Now Is Time To Plant Hardy Shrubs

According to announcement by the Blackwell Garden club, now is the time for planting hardy shrubs and perennials, for normal blooming and growth the coming season, and for much more insurance that they will grow.

Under normal conditions, the battle is half won by fall planting. Following is a list of plants which should be planted at once, or until early winter:

In Blackwell

When the ammonia pipe broke just east of the engine room at the Lahman Ice plant a day or two ago and wind carried the fumes to the barn near by, three of the horses were badly affected by the fumes. Two of them are blind and their lungs are badly affected. It is thought that one of the horses will die. The men at the plant worked with the horses all night, giving and bathing them with hot vinegar or they probably would have all died.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Major and son who have been visiting their sister, Mrs. A. M. Linxwiler and family, and aunt, Mrs. J. H. Jackson, and Mr. Jackson, left this morning for their home in St. Louis.

Mrs. T. F. Herter entertained several little people at the J. V. Turner home Thursday in honor of her little daughter, Theodora's second birthday. Several of the guests were unable to attend. Those present were Sammy and Billie Gary, Walden Tucker, Kenneth and Rosalie Hawkins.

Mrs. J. E. Johnson and children who started in the auto to Colorado with Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Johnson who were going to California got as far as Greensburg, Kans., and gave up the trip on account of the rain and mud. They got home yesterday and reported the roads very bad.

The Methodist choir gave a kitchen shower for Miss Bertha Bottenfield after choir practice last night. The choir adjourned to the basement and A. L. Strong made the presentation speech and presented the gifts to Miss Bottenfield who is soon to be married to Archie Via. Miss Bottenfield has been organist and a faithful and efficient member of the choir for some time. Those present were Mrs. Dwight Randall, Misses Jessie and Ida Clift, Dot Morrill, Sybil Neal, Nellie Cullen, Lelah Turner, Inez Brookey, Dorothy Billings, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Brannigan, Mr. Gerbracht, J. H. Grissom, L. E. Kerr, A. L. Strong, Mrs. Ray Otstot, Mrs. W. W. Palmer and the Reverend and Mrs. Mesch.

Candidate Withdraws

Lester Ray, who had filed as a candidate for school board subject to next Tuesday's election in Braman, has withdrawn, it was announced Saturday.

The blaze, Tonkawa's first major fire since the first of the year, according to Ward Zody, fire chief, was discovered about 10:25 p. m. by Mrs. Irene Dunn, telephone operator on duty, who saw smoke coming through the floor of the second story where the telephone office is housed.

She notified the fire department, local telephone officials and Ponca City and Blackwell telephone offices before leaving the smoke-filled room.

Fire authorities established that the blaze started through a short in the wiring on the west wall of the building, going up the wall and burning through the false ceiling to a plaster ceiling five feet above and on to the floor joists supporting the second story.

Both ceilings fell.

The smoke was so intense that fire fighters found it difficult to battle the blaze.

Major damage resulted from the smoke and heat which affected the Harville interior and ice cream concession store next door, the lounge of the telephone office and apartment upstairs.

Second story flooring was greatly weakened and was being repaired Saturday.

Tonkawa firemen responded quickly to the call and had the fire under control before midnight, averting possible disaster to a whole block.

The Blackwell fire department also answered the call but local firemen had the blaze under control by the time they arrived.

Phone service was suspended for 45 minutes and women operators were not permitted to return to their posts for two hours.

The switchboard was manned temporarily by wire chief operator Jack Coleman, Blackwell; Price Thomas, manager, Blackwell; E. C. Pitts, district plant superintendent, Ponca City; D. D. Barrett, district traffic superintendent, Ponca City; W. C. Plummer, repairman, Tonkawa, and J. E. Mock, plant man, Tonkawa.

The only phone reported out of order was in the Harville store.

Mallett received an injured back, Stansblack lacerations and bruises about the head, and Verna Eagle, lacerations and bruises.

The car was demolished.

Wanda Marie Skelton, 21, 308 N. 10th, Tonkawa, received minor injuries when the 1950 Oldsmobile she was driving overturned on U. S. 177 one and a half miles south of Blackwell at about 4 p.m. Friday, Highway Patrolman Robert Sills said.

The patrolman said the woman was going south and started to pass a pickup truck. At the time, the pickup pulled out to pass another vehicle in front of it, and the woman went off the Seven persons were injured in a rash of traffic accidents on highways and roads in Kay county late Friday and Saturday.

Glenn Wilbur Pierce, about 40, Newkirk, was in Ponca City hospital late Saturday with a broken neck, four fractured ribs, cuts and bruises after a two-car collision at a county road intersection at about 8 a.m. southwest of Newkirk.

His condition was listed as serious.

Lee Ray Bowersock, about 20, Braman, received cuts about the face and bruises in that collision, one mile west and one south of the U. S. 77-11 intersection south of Newkirk, or five miles north of Ponca City on the extension of Union street.

Highway Patrolman Taylor Lain said Pierce was going west on a country road in a 1937 Ford, apparently disregarded a stop sign and pulled in front of a 1940 Chevrolet driven south by Bowersock.

The Bowersock car knocked the Pierce auto to the south and overturned in a ditch.

Three White Eagle residents, Ray Mallett, 29; Daniel Stansblack, about 20, and Verna Eagle, 32, remained in Ponca City hospital Saturday after their car hit a culvert and overturned into a telephone pole four and a half miles south of Ponca City on State Highway 40 at about 1:30 a.m.

Patrolman Lain said Mallett was driving the 1939 Studebaker north on the highway when he ran off the right hand side of the road and into the culvert.

Mallett received an injured back, Stansblack lacerations and bruises about the head, and Verna Eagle, lacerations and bruises.

The car was demolished.

location plans to reopen in about five weeks, he said.

The blaze, Tonkawa's first major fire since the first of the year, according to Ward Zody, fire chief, was discovered about 10:25 p. m. by Mrs. Irene Dunn, telephone operator on duty, who saw smoke coming through the floor of the second story where the telephone office is housed.

She notified the fire department, local telephone officials and Ponca City and Blackwell telephone offices before leaving the smoke-filled room.

Fire authorities established that the blaze started through a short in the wiring on the west wall of the building, going up the wall and burning through the false ceiling to a plaster ceiling five feet above and on to the floor joists supporting the second story.

Both ceilings fell.

The smoke was so intense that fire fighters found it difficult to battle the blaze.

Major damage resulted from the smoke and heat which affected the Harville interior and ice cream concession store next door, the lounge of the telephone office and apartment upstairs.

Second story flooring was greatly weakened and was being repaired Saturday.

Tonkawa firemen responded quickly to the call and had the fire under control before midnight, averting possible disaster to a whole block.

The Blackwell fire department also answered the call but local firemen had the blaze under control by the time they arrived.

Phone service was suspended for 45 minutes and women operators were not permitted to return to their posts for two hours.

The switchboard was manned temporarily by wire chief operator Jack Coleman, Blackwell; Price Thomas, manager, Blackwell; E. C. Pitts, district plant superintendent, Ponca City; D. D. Barrett, district traffic superintendent, Ponca City; W. C. Plummer, repairman, Tonkawa, and J. E. Mock, plant man, Tonkawa.

4 And [a] they shall see his face; and [b] his name shall be [rv] in their foreheads.
5 [c] And there shall be [rv] no night there; and they need no [rv] candle, neither light of [ro] the sun; for [d] the Lord God [rv] giveth them light: [e] and they shall reign for ever and ever.
6 And he said unto me, [f] These [rv] sayings are faithful and true: and the Lord [rv] God of the holy prophets [g] sent his angel to shew unto his servants the things which must shortly [rv] be done.
7 [rv] [h] Behold, I come quickly: [i] blessed is he that keepeth the [rv] sayings of the prophecy of this book.
8 And I Jōhn [rv] saw these things, and heard them. And when I [ro] had heard and [rv] seen, [j] I fell down to worship before the feet of the angel which shewed me these things.
9 [rv] Then saith he unto me, [k] See thou do it not: [ro] for I am [rv] thy fellowservant, and of thy brethren the prophets, and [rv] of them which keep the [rv] sayings of this book: worship God.
10 [l] And he saith unto me, Seal not [rv] the sayings of the prophecy of this book: [m] for the time is at hand.
11 [n] He that is [rv] unjust, let him [rv] be unjust still: and he [rv] which is filthy, let him be [rv] filthy still: and he that is righteous, let him [rv] be righteous still:
and he that is holy, let him be [rv] holy still.
12 [ro] [o] And, behold, I come quickly;
and [p] my reward is with me, [q] to [rv] give every man according as his work [rv] shall be.
13 [r] I am [rv] Al'phā and [rv] Ō'me-gā, the [rv] beginning and the end, the first and the last.
14 [s] Blessed are they that [rv] do his commandments, that they may have [rv] right [t] to the tree of life, [u] and may enter in [rv] through the gates into the city.
15 [ro] For [v] without are [rv] [w] dogs, and [rv] sorcerers, and [rv] whoremongers, and murderers, and [rv] idolaters, and [rv] whosoever loveth and maketh a lie.
16 [x] I Jē'sus have sent mine angel to testify unto you these things [rv] in the churches. [y] I am the root and the offspring of Dā'vid, [ro] and [z] the bright [rv] and morning star.
17 And the Spirit and [a] the bride say, Come. And [rv] let him that hear-eth say, Come. [b] And [rv] let him that is athirst come. And whosoever will, let him take the water of life freely.
18 [ro] For I testify unto every man that heareth the words of the prophecy of this book, [c] If any man shall add unto [rv] these things, God shall add unto him the plagues [rv] that are written in this book:
19 And if any man shall take away from the words of the book of this prophecy, [d] God shall take away his part [rv] [1] out of the book of life, and out of [e] the holy city, [ro] and from the things which are written in this book.
20 He which testifieth these things saith, [rv] [f] Surely I come quickly.
[g] Amen. [ro] [h] Even so, come, Lord Jē'sus.
21 [i] The grace of [rv] our Lord Jē'sus
[ro] Christ be with [rv] you all. Amen.

Caretaker of Giffin Farm Cemetery

Dear Caretaker:

I am researching my family history and would like to correspond with someone who could take some pictures in the Giffin Farm Cemetery for me. This is what I am looking for:

Picture of gate to cemetery, if no gate then picture of sign for the cemetery.

Pictures of the stones of several graves for:

George Giffin b. 2 Feb 1798 d. 11 May 1870

Sarah Hill Giffin b. 22 Aug 1813 d. 25 Dec 1898

David Doane Giffin b. 8 Sept. 1766 d. 2 Apr. 1840

Jerusha Thompson Giffin b. 29 Mar 1771 d. 13 Dec. 1849

Is there a map of the cemetery? Showing where these graves are located?

I am willing to pay for this assistance. I look forward to hearing from my in the stamped self-addressed envelope which I have enclosed.

Thank You for your time and help.

Most gratefully

Dear Barbara;

I will send your pictures out to-morrow. I was well pleased with the results. I took these July 21 or 22, on a Thurs. or Fri. around 8:00 A.M.. The sun was up, the one is taken from northeast Corner of Cemetery looking towards the southwest Corner. The one is at the north gate where the sign is at. The 4 of your family stones took clear only the real old stone. Your lots are about the center of the north west quarter section. There has been a new wire fence put around the Cemetery about a year ago. The cemetery is well cared for at all times. It is located a mile east of Dunlap. Of Course Dunlap is only a wide spot in the road any more, maybe 60 people live there. We live about 2 miles north west of Dunlap. My husband is retired after 40 yrs. driving livestock truck for hire. I did teach school 3 yrs. before getting married, in war time. We had a boy and a girl and they are on their own, live in Emporia about 30 miles from here.

I hope these are satisfactory with you and what you wanted. I will not say how much for these, but if you feel they are worth something to you O.K. I have been glad to help your needs.

Yours truly
Mildred Mercer

asked to get to Caretaker

Barbara Fulton

June 21, 1988

Dear Caretaker of Dunlap, Kansas Cemetery:

I am researching my family history and know that my Great Grandparents and an Aunt are buried in the Dunlap Cemetery. Their names are:

Henry Giffin b. 20 Dec 1835 d. 23 Nov 1913

Sarah J. Cooke Giffin - b. 25 Sept. 1843
d. 23 Sept. 1916

Ina G. Giffin - d. Jan 1939 or 38

What I am needing is:

1. A picture of the Stone or stones at the graves
2. A map of the cemetery showing location of the graves.
3. A picture of the entrance to the cemetery if there is a gate or if no gate a picture of a sign with the cemetery name on it.

I am willing to pay for this service since I am physically unable at this time to make the trip to Dunlap. If you cannot help me, could you give me the name of someone in the area who might?

Thank you for your time.

Most gratefully,

Barbara Fulton

Dear Funeral Director:

I am researching my family history and am in need of help in corresponding with the sexton of the Giffin Farm cemetery located between Odgensburg and Morristown. I am hoping you can be of some assistance.

I am enclosing a letter to the sexton in the hopes that you can forward the letter to the right party. If you cannot, please return the letters to me. Perhaps you can tell of the information I need.

Thank you for your assistance.

Subj: seeking Giffin/Grumbling in W. PA

I am seeking informatin on May Ann (maiden name unknown) Giffin Varner. She was born 7 March 1807 in Blair (Huntingdon or Blair Co.) PA. She was a widow, with a small daughter, Mary Ann "Polly" when she married Samuel Varner in 1828. Mary Ann died 27 Nov 1893. Her brief obituary in the Johnstown paper did not mention her maiden name, nor that she was married before.

Daughter Mary Ann "Polly" Varner was born in 1826. She married Jacob Grumbling. Polly died in Johnstown, PA in 5 Oct 1896. Her obituary stated that she was the daughter of Samuel Varner.

any information would be appreciated.

KKK recruits near high s

DUNCAN, S.C. (AP) — Sixteen Ku Klux Klan members held a peaceful recruiting drive Saturday in front of a high school where students soon will be allowed to wear the Confederate flag.

"Any time there's a discrepancy about the Confederate flag, yes, we'll be there," said Charles Murphy, state director of the Invisible Empire, Ku Klux Klan.

Confederate paraphernalia will be allowed at James F. Byrnes High School starting Friday for the first time in more than 20 years under a settlement to a lawsuit filed by five students' parents.

Parents and students said their reverence for the flag is rooted in history and Southern heritage, not racism. They denounced the Klan recruitment drive.

"Our children don't need them. We don't need the publicity of being connected with them," said Vikki Parham, one of the parents who brought the suit. "The KKK ... has just about ruined that flag."

Nine white-robed Klan members walked on both sides of the street in front of the school, handing out application forms and newsletters to those who wandered by on an oppressively muggy afternoon.

Another seven Klansmen wearing black shirts, pants and military boots shadowed their robed colleagues, chatting over portable telephones about security.

About 20 protesters, mostly Methodist ministers from a neighboring town and church members, stood nearby. They brought boxes of bibles.

Sen. Hank Brown, R-Colo., proposed that senators accepting public funding be limited to two terms in office. The term limitation amendment was defeated, 68-30.

Brown argued that term limits would make senators more responsive to the public and less beholden to contributors.

But opponents said the amendment only would punish candidates who take public money, and act as a disincentive for them to comply with spending limits and other features of campaign reform.

Nickles voted for term limits, while Boren voted against them.

Honoraria banned, income restricted

Voting 72-24, senators prohibited the acceptance of speaking fees, or honoraria, for personal use. It also limits other types of earned income a senator could accept.

Amendment sponsor Sen. Christopher Dodd, D-Conn., said the fees perpetuated the perception that senators could be influenced by money.

Opponents, however, said the fees were necessary to allow senators to earn the equivalent of House members, who have voted to ban speaking fees but increased their salaries at the same time.

A House member earns a $125,100 salary, while senators get $101,900.

Boren and Nickles voted to ban honoraria.

In a vote that pitted the Senate "haves" versus the "have nots," senators tallied 49-46 to limit the amount of unearned income a senator could keep. The amendment, sponsored by Sen. Daniel Patrick Moynihan, D-N.Y., would hurt millionaires like Sens. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., and Jay Rockefeller, D-W.Va.

Boren and Nickles voted against the earned income limit.

Guide to the Soundex System

The Soundex filing system, alphabetic for the first letter of surname and numeric thereunder as indicated by divider cards, keeps together names of the same and similar sounds but of variant spellings.

To search for a particular name, you must first work out the code number for the surname of the individual. No number is assigned to the first letter of the surname. If the name is Kuhne, for example, the index card will be in the "K" segment of the index. The code number for Kuhne, worked out according to the system below, is 500.

Soundex Coding Guide

Code	Key Letters and Equivalents
1	b, p, f, v
2	c, s, k, g, j, q, x, z
3	d, t
4	l
5	m, n
6	r

The letters a, e, i, o, u, y, w, and h are not coded.

The first letter of a surname is not coded.

Every Soundex number must be a 3-digit number. A name yielding no code numbers, as Lee, would thus be L 000; one yielding only one code number would have two zeros added, as Kuhne, coded as K 500; and one yielding two code numbers would have one zero added, as Ebell, coded as E140. Not more than three digits are used, so Ebelson would be coded as E142, not E1425.

When two key letters or equivalents appear together, or one key letter immediately follows or precedes an equivalent, the two are coded as one letter, by a single number, as follows: Ke*ll*y, coded as K400; Buer*ck*, coded as B620; *Ll*oyd, coded as L300; and S*ch*aefer, coded as S160.

If several surnames have the same code, the cards for them are arranged alphabetically by given name. There are divider cards showing most code numbers, but not all. For instance, one divider may be numbered 350 and the next one 400. Between the two divider cards there may be names coded 353, 350, 360, 365, and 355, but instead of being in numerical order they are interfiled alphabetically by given name.

Such prefixes to surnames as "van," "Von," "Di," "de," "le," "Di," "D'," "dela," or "du" are sometimes disregarded in alphabetizing and in coding.

The following names are examples of Soundex coding and are given only as illustrations.

Name	Letters Coded	Code No.
Allricht	l, r, c	A 462
Eberhard	b, r, r	E 166
Engebrethson	n, g, b	E 521

Hildebrand	l, d, b	H 431
Kavanagh	v, n, g	K 152
Lind, Van	n, d	L 530
Lukaschowsky	k, s, s	L 222
McDonnell	c, d, n	M 235

Opnian	p,n,n	O 155
Oppenheimer	p, n, m	O 155

Zitzmeinn	t, z, m	Z 325

Native Americans, Orientals, and Religious Nuns

Researchers using the Soundex system to locate religious nuns or persons with American Indian or oriental names should be aware of the way such names were coded. Variations in coding differed from the normal coding system.

Phonetically spelled oriental and Indian names were sometimes coded as if one continuous name, or, if a distinguishable surname was given, the names were coded in the normal manner. For example, the American Indian name Shinka-Wa-Sa may have been coded as "Shinka" (S520) or "Sa" (S000). Researchers should investigate the various possibilities of coding such names.

Religious nun names were coded as if "Sister" was their surname, and they appear in each State's Soundex under the code "S236." Within the State's Soundex Code S236, the names are not necessarily in alphabetical order.
